Here's How Berxi Has Adapted to Today's Technology

In an increasingly connected world, you want to work with companies as connected as you are. You want to work with businesses that are up to date on the technologies and trends that matter to you. As a professional, you know how you want to spend your time and resources. This can include the insurance-buying process. Berxi is one insurance company that has adapted to today's technology.

Berxi is part of Berkshire Hathaway Specialty Insurance Co. (BHSIC), and they have a history of connecting professionals and small businesses with the specific insurance they need. From medical and nursing malpractice insurance to errors & omissions coverage for real estate agents and brokers, they're ready to cover your particular needs. More than that, however, they've embraced today's technologies and trends. Here are a few examples.

Taking Professional Insurance Options Online

Time is precious. It's one resource you can't get more of—not conventionally, anyway. Thankfully, when it comes to technology, there are ways you can find more time. Berxi is helping make that happen. How can an insurance company help you “find” more time? It's in how they do things. They take professional insurance options online.

From getting a quote for coverage, like their malpractice insurance for nurses, to chatting with a service agent, you can do it all online and on your schedule. Getting a quote for professional insurance only takes a few minutes, so there's not a lot of waiting around as you research options. Plus, Berxi is a direct-to-customer insurer, so you don't have to work through an intermediary to get the coverage you want. Simple!

Coverage That Keeps Up with Today's Pace

Technology accelerates the pace of doing business, making it harder to focus and increasing the likelihood that you'll make a mistake. And mistakes can be costly. That's where Berxi comes in.

Berxi's errors & omissions coverage offers a layer of protection when things go awry. This form of professional liability insurance can cover claims of negligence or inadequate work. In short, it can help cover potential mistakes, including potential mistakes as a result of your business falling short of expectations.

Partnerships That Make Sense for Professionals

Berxi routinely partners with companies that have also embraced today's technology-forward mindset. Through these partnerships, which are part of Berxi's "Berxi Perks" program, you can take advantage of various offers related to continuing education, along with professional resources you can apply to your small business or even your daily life.

For instance, while you may turn to Berxi for select insurance for nursing, you can also browse Berxi Perks for resources that may complement your nursing career. Partnerships and offers are routinely updated, and you can check back for partnerships that complement your career path and business.
