

What traditional methods of Cockroach Killing you should avoid?

The cockroach menace is not an easy task to tackle. Cockroaches are quite stubborn to exterminate all altogether. You should not feel bad in case you are not able to destroy these roaches instantly because you might not be aware of the fact that these irksome creatures have been around since the age of dinosaurs. In recent discoveries, fossil evidence shows that cockroaches have been on this planet for over 300 million years. This should give you an idea about how adaptable and intelligent these creatures are and underestimating their potential to survive would be a mistake.

TechSquadTeam, one of the piloting companies that provide you with consistent and quality pest control service in Pune, offers all kinds of eco-friendly treatments for the total eradication of these annoying insects we are also going to tell you how to kill them from their source itself on your own. Before knowing how to kill them first you need to understand what is wrong with your traditional methods:

- A. Most of the time people tend to use pesticides against cockroaches that contain unsafe solvents and produce an unpleasant odor. The application of these pesticides is another issue and it might not be applied in the desired way for the eradication.
- B. Using chemical pesticides can have health side effects on humans and you cannot confirm if the required dose is given to the cockroach and did they intake the chemicals or not. You can never know if all of them are dead or just a few of them.

- C. Doing the whole pest control process on your own might be too tedious and time-consuming. Inspecting the site of infestation, properly treating it with pesticides, and checking out if the treatment is successful or not.

All these methods are traditional ways, however, rather than going the long way you always have the better choice at hand.
